

Leave companies with their title 2 placement!

The web is filled with good things, bad things, and entertaining ones. But it would not be this way if there was someone constricting it, like north korea constricts their people. The only difference is that in north korea the government is the one calling the shots. Leave companies with their title 2 placement, or they have the chance to become the government that swamps us with their propaganda that will kill any thought not to their liking, including the present government.

As the government do you want to be controlled by mear civilians who can't appreciate all that is done for them?
